Citizens of Anniston, as you may know, the coming week brings with it temperatures that are below freezing. That said, we still find ourselves in the midst of a pandemic. Opening a warming shelter could increase the spread of COVID-19 and place warming shelter volunteers, as well as those seeking warmth, in danger of the virus.

Thus, the City of Anniston would like to announce a partnership with The Right Place, Inc. Starting this coming Monday, our Parks & Recreation Department will work to shuttle those in need of shelter to hotels throughout our area that The Right Place has secured through the utilization of emergency hotel vouchers.

Any individual in need of warmth and shelter this week should make contact with The Right Place. Upon contact, their staff will walk individuals through their intake process in order to see if they qualify for the service.

You may contact Ms. Lori Floyd, the Executive Director of The Right Place, via phone and/or email at:

Individuals interested in this service may also inquire about it in person by visiting The Right Place's headquarters, located at 105 West 15th Street, Anniston, AL 36201.
